

Individual report week 4

This week we focused on the UI of the app and underlaying logic. I consider the group to have split the task better this week but kept the vertical collaboration making the merge of the different tasks easy. Although we have some work left to apply more of the agile methods regarding user stories and tasks applying INVEST and smart criteria. My contribution for this sprint has been to support in technical questions regarding the creation of the SQL database as well as deploying it to Heroku. However, for next sprint I am going to spend some time focusing on the MVVM design which is the chosen design pattern for this project. Also for next sprint I am going to be better at tracking time and minimizing the administration time on Tuesdays.
