

Individual report week 5

Focus this week has been to achieve MVP, I consider that the team helped each other on the tasks my focus was to get a connection between the database, and Heroku I was not successful on this task however the team did a work around and coded a local database using MySQL. This shows the team ability to change direction when problem solving and ability to solve it in another way and therefore achieving efficiency and not wasting sprints. My contributions this week has therefore been a lot of debugging into the remote database as well as get the program to communicate with google cloud vision. For next sprint I am going to give the remote database another shot because if we choose to keep developing the app users and scores is the next tasks hence a cloud database is needed. Something that was positive for me this sprint has been to track hours and therefore the administration time was reduced.
